
Email – Setting up for Android

Because there are several android versions in use, adding email can vary, but the setup should still be similar to this guide. To add email to an android device, access accounts in the settings menu, add account then select email.

For account type, select “Microsoft Exchange ActiveSync”, or “corporate” then enter the information shown below. If prompted by RSA, click OK.

Click next on the account options. After naming the account, the newly created account will appear under the accounts list.
